

BLACKPOOL MILL COTTAGE

The 15th century cottage is situated in a beautiful valley, a stone's throw from a remote Atlantic cove. It sleeps 8 people but is equally suitable for 2. A private drive leading from Hartland Abbey through woodland, carpeted in snowdrops and bluebells in spring, quite suddenly opens out to reveal a view of the cliffs and the sea, with the cottage beside the Abbey stream. Its unique position makes it a wonderful place to relax, enjoy the natural surroundings, and escape from the pressures of modern living.

In 2005 the cottage was the film location for Rosamunde Pilcher's 'The Shell Seekers' with Vanessa Redgrave and Maximilian Schell. In 2007 the BBC filmed Andrew Davies's stunning adaptation of Jane Austen's 'Sense and Sensibility' here, with Janet McTeer, Mark Williams, Hattie Morahan, Charity Wakefield, Dan Stevens, David Morrissey and Dominic Cooper. The cottage starred as 'Barton Cottage', home to the Dashwood family when they fell on hard times. In April 2015 the BBC returned to film 'The Night Manager' by John Le Carre, starring Tom Hiddleston, Hugh Laurie and Olivia Colman. In 2017 'The Guernsey Literary and Potato Peel Pie Society' was filmed nearby, on the Hartland Abbey estate.

The beach, with its rock pools, sand at low tide and unique cliff formation is always interesting in all weathers and at low tide prawns, mussels, limpets, star fish, crabs, lobsters and fish are to be found in the pools which are also wonderful natural paddling pools for children. The sea is very clean with good bathing and surfing, in the right conditions. In good weather evening barbecuing on the beach with the sun setting over the sea is magical. The only light to be seen is from the lighthouse on Lundy Island. The walks from the cottage are stunning in all weathers. The South West Coastal Footpath passes beside the cottage; the beautiful rugged coastline combines with a profusion of wild flowers, butterflies and birds in summer, bracing winds and huge seas in winter. There is also trout fishing in the Abbey stream at a small extra charge and the possibility of using the Abbey tennis court.

The cottage remains purposely largely unmodernised to retain its unique character. The ground floor is beamed throughout; the sitting room has a woodburner in a huge open fireplace, a lovely place to curl up with a book or do a puzzle. There is a TV monitor with DVD player on which to watch films. The kitchen is open plan with the stairs leading upstairs from the middle. There is plenty of hot water, an oil fired rayburn and an electric cooker, a fridge/freezer and dishwasher. We have installed oil fired heating for the colder months and provide plentiful logs.

Hartland Quay with its hotel, Shipwreck Museum and bar and superb cliff scenery, Hartland point and lighthouse, Hartland Abbey and Gardens, St. Nectans Church and Docton Mill Gardens are all within walking distance; Clovelly, Welcombe and Morwenstow are nearby. Hartland with its excellent Post Office, Old Bakery Coffee Shop, Pop-In general store, artists, woodworkers and pottery studios is 2 miles away. Fresh fish, lobsters and crabs can be bought in Clovelly.

There are many other wonderful, unspoilt beaches within easy driving distance; there are houses and gardens open to the public, family attractions, excellent pubs and restaurants and, of course, tea rooms! Hartland Abbey has delicious cream teas and light lunches. Boat trips can be taken to Lundy Island from Clovelly or Bideford. Bideford, Barnstaple and Bude are all within 30 minutes drive: North Cornwall, Exmoor and Dartmoor are within easy driving distance. Junction 27 on the M5 is approximately 1 1/4 hours.
